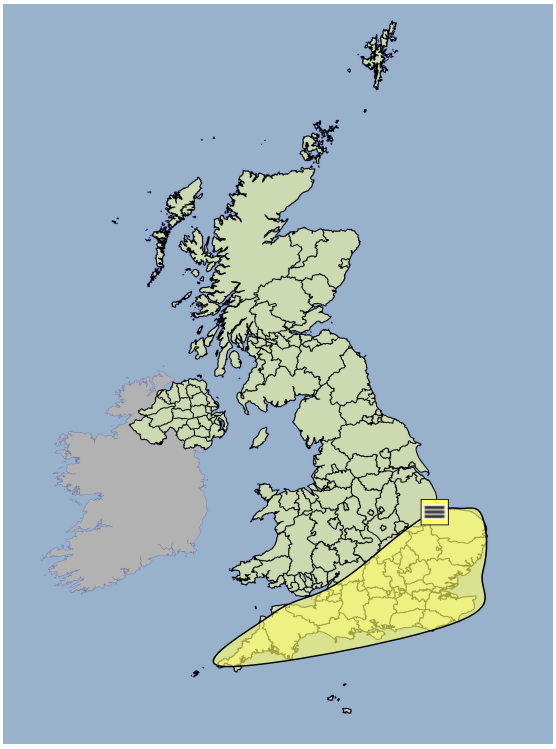
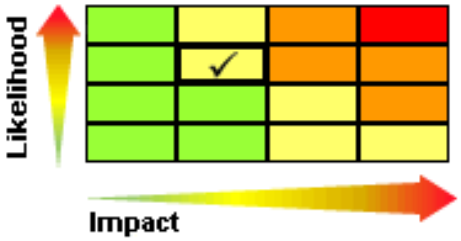
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Areas of fog will develop through Saturday evening under clear skies, particularly affecting southwest England and the West Country at first, then increasingly other parts of southern and eastern England, before thinning again later in the night as a weather front moves southeastwards bringing a band of cloud and some light rain or drizzle.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Fog

Valid from 19:05 on Sat, 29th Nov 2014 until 06:00 on Sun, 30th Nov 2014

Patches of fog already forming will become more widespread during the rest of Saturday evening and into the early hours of Sunday with the visibility falling to less than 100 metres in places. Later in the night the fog will tend to lift onto hills, before clearing from the northwest as the breeze increases.
